

RECEIVED

SEP 27 1999

EIS000073

10 David Hacker.

11 MR. HACKER: Good afternoon, folks. It's a
12 pleasure being here and standing here in Amargosa Valley, one
13 of the greatest towns in America not for the storage of spent 14 nuclear fuel rods.

15 I am from Fifield, Wisconsin. I'm from
1 16 Wisconsin, the greatest state in America. I'm from Fifield
17 Wisconsin, the greatest town in America, and that is the 18 greatest state and the greatest town in America for the storage
19 of spent nuclear fuel rods and also one of the world's greatest 20 tourist attractions.

21 I would like to show you my hands today. My 22 hands represents Fifield, Wisconsin, and my feet right here are 23 standing in Amargosa Valley, and I feel pretty comfortable
24 enough here today -- I'm going to sit in the chair here -- to 25 take my shoes off and be here.

1 And in my pocket here, I have a left glove and a
2 right glove. The left hand leads to the right hand.

3 The Senate and the House in their great wisdom
4 have determined and along with certain other elected officials
5 that do not want spent nuclear fuel rods in their state, and 6 believe me, there are a lot of senators a lot of House of 7 Representatives that do not want spent nuclear fuel rods in 8 their state, but the Senate and the House in the great wisdom
9 that they do have have determined that spent nuclear fuel rods
10 look good on your feet.

11 Can everyone see? I have my gloves on my feet,
12 and the Senate and the House have said that spent nuclear fuel

/

13 rods look good on my feet, and my feet are -- are 14 representative of Amargosa.

1... 15 Well, you folks don't have the greatest granite 16 in America with the structure that would support that, and even 17 my children -- I have three children, 4 -- 4 years old, 6 years
18 old and 8.

19 The 4-year old, I said, "Christine, what do you
20 think of this?" Well, Christine went (noise). So she knows 21 gloves don't look good on my feet.

22 The 6-year-old, "Jocelyn, what do you think? Do
23 my gloves look good on my feet?" Jocelyn said, "No, gloves do
24 not belong on feet."

25 Well, the 8-year-old is getting a little bit

1 older. He's getting more wise to being an adult and going to 2 adult. He says, "Well, if you say they look good on your feet, 3 Daddy, they look good on your feet. I guess they'll keep your 4 feet warm."

5 Well, yeah. "I guess they'll keep your feet 6 warm," but we all know for a fact that gloves belong on your 7 hands, and gloves look good on your hands and gloves don't look 8 good on your feet.

9 So I guess the ayes have it, you know. We win
10 this hands down. Fifield's won the race before it's even 11 begun. It's the greatest town in America, and the DOE
12 officials and other people that have done research work and 13 geologists know this, our governor knows this.

14 Our elected officials in Wisconsin, the greatest 15 elected officials in America know this.

16 Can I keep the Senate and the House happy? Sure.
17 In process of negotiations and wheeling and dealing, Wisconsin
18 has come up with something called the National Debit Card Bill, 19 which is the beginning of electronic money, and hopefully the 20 great bipartisan delegation of Wisconsin and our elected
21 officials, both Democrats and the Republicans can issue nuclear 22 for the Senate and the House. Be a new way of doing business.

23 Basically it gives the American worker a paycheck
24 everyday. Takes care of campaign finance reform, can fund the 25 DOE and branches of the government, Social Security, Medicare,
1 and it gives Congress and the Senate a paycheck everyday, too,
2 and hopefully in their great wisdom this thing will be put 3 together the right way.

4 But if I can leave this community later on today
5 with anything in mind, and you elected -- you folks have to 6 work with your elected officials and you elected officials have 7 to work back in Washington to work with the Nuclear Waste
8 Policy Act.

9 That was not really written the right way, and 10 even these folks realize it. They know it, but as long as 11 these folks keep on getting money -- you know, I got dollars in 12 my mind.

13 Wendy, what is this? It's about --

14 MR. BROWN: I think -- actually if you're giving 15 exhibits to anybody, you can give them to me.

16 MR. HACKER: We need the money. But what 17 I'm --

18 MR. BROWN: You're just about out of time.

19 MR. HACKER: Sure. If I can give a point, it's 20 like as long as they keep on getting money and everything keeps
1... 21 working now. We live in a state well, yeah, we're the greatest 22 town in America for the storage of spent nuclear fuel rods, but 23 like I brought out in my point, gloves do not belong on feet.

24 So with that, I'll let you go and I'll make 25 Wisconsin the greatest tourist attraction in America.

1 Thanks very much.